There are many features in B. C. Whitney's delightful musical mixture, "The Isle of Spice," with Clara A. Pusey as leading comedian, which will make its appearance at the opera house to-night, and it will be the notable event of the present theatrical season. It has been said about this production that it has the youngest, cleverest, prettiest and best singing and dancing chorus on the American stage.

For the month of October a series of Sunday evening lectures has been arranged by the Rev. E. C. Downey, to be given at the Universalist church. The series will begin to-morrow evening, when the lecture on "John Calvin, the early apostle of Puritanism," will be given. The subjects for the next two Sunday evenings are "Puritans and Pilgrims," and the contribution of the New England life, and "Charles Darwin." The reformation of the 16th century." On October 24 there will be no evening service and on October 31 the subject will be "The Meaning of Halloween." On the morning of October 24, Col. E. G. Osgood will conduct the services.

The Odd Ladies' fall in Woodmen's hall drew a large attendance last evening in spite of the rain. The crowd numbered about 300, being the largest thus far. An enjoyable piano solo was rendered by Miss Elizabeth Carson and the remainder of the program was taken up by Andrew Frost of Montpelier, who gave a very interesting exhibition of hypnotism. Mr. Frost had four subjects on the stage, all of whom easily submitted to his power, and he made them do all manner of stunts. He made one of his subjects right and then placed him across the backs of two chairs and the other three subjects and Mr. Frost stood on his body.

Mrs. Catherine McKenzie returned yesterday from a two months' visit in Salda, Colo. On the return trip she was accompanied as far as Denver by Mrs. H. R. Hay and daughter and they spent a very pleasant week there visiting the city and friends, among whom were Mr. and Mrs. Yule, the latter very much improved in health and in her voice of the West, also Charles Mear and family, who are well and nicely settled in their beautiful home. With the exception of the company from Salda to Denver, Mrs. McKenzie made the journey alone. Her son, John J. McKenzie, sent home by her to City Clerk Mackay a collection of Colorado minerals, 27 specimens in all, including gold, silver, copper and lead ores, specimens of petrified woods, and samples of Salda granite. Mr. McKenzie also sent samples of granite to others in Barre.

Dreamland adds to its already excellent program to-day, "Leather Stocking," a free adaptation from the famous novel of that name by James Fenimore Cooper. It is one of the American Biograph company's films and that alone is enough to assure one of its worth. The battle with the Indians and the wild life apparent all the way through it makes it intensely interesting.

Dr. Denton's Sleeping Garments

—and—

are two kinds that after you have used you would not care to do without.

They are just as necessary as it is to save money, and have a desirable kind. Users of these two garments are the ones that recommend them to their friends. You will find that the advance on wool has not interfered with the quality of these goods.

They are fully up to standard.

DR. DENTON

Munsing Underwear

As we put special stress on the advertising of our Munsing Union Suits, we get the idea that they only make Union Suits.

Munsing Underwear is made for ladies in pants and vests, both natural and white, at 50c each. Made in wool, both grey and white, at $1.00 each, and these are cut different from all other kinds. They fit and wear.

Munsing Underwear for children in wool vests and pants and at the price, 50c, there is nothing on the market that can touch them.

Munsing Union Suits with deep seats for small girls or boys in heavy cotton for winter, 50c. For winter in wool at $1.00 per suit. Extra sizes in boys made the same as for men. Extra sizes in misses made the same as ladies. These you cannot always find.

As a special sale we are to sell all that we have in Grey Union Suits that were $1.50, now at 95c each.

Bennington Underwear

Bennington Underwear years ago proved its superiority. It is not as neat a garment to look at as a Munsing, but has wear and warm that keep its customers from year to year.

Bennington Underwear for children in wool from 30c up, according to size. Ladies' same grade at $1.00 per single piece.

Our white Fleeced Ladies' Union Suits at $1.00 are entirely different from all other makes. Come half open front and button across front, Oneida style.

Munsing Union Suits come in the better wool grades and for quality are not nearly as expensive. For instance, a $2.00 Munsing Union Suit in lamb's wool made by other people would cost you from $3.75 to $4.00 each.

Small sizes, that is, the first four sizes, come as low as 50c each, and the larger sizes only a small advance, each set of sizes.

This is the only garment that is an absolute protection to children that are restless and kick about in their sleep.

Some mothers find it almost necessary to sleep with one eye open unless their children are protected by a Dr. Denton Sleeping Garment.

You want to buy the best that your money will buy. Take our advice this time and try from the above kinds.

Four styles of our $4.00 Regal Shoes just opened up and Rubbers to fit them all. Ask to see the Rubber with leather protected heel.
